Are your skills a little rusty?

We can help.

Dear friends,

Proper etiquette is more than just good manners. Do you get nervous when asked to make introductions in a group setting? Are you comfortable navigating a formal dinner table setting? Are your interviewing skills landing you that corporate job?

The Etiquette Professionals are committed to giving you the gift of confidence. We want you to feel at ease in any business, formal or social setting.

Etiquette training is not only preparing you for formal dinners. You will explore body language, conversation, networking, E-mail and office protocol, business card etiquette and so much more.

Our goal is to provide you with a feeling of confidence and enhance your self-esteem.

Let us help you give yourself a gift that will last a lifetime.

Best Regards,

Christine Chapweske

Founder and Consultant
